The interest rate is variable. We may change the interest rate but any further change to the interest rate will only affect purchases that are made after the change to the interest rate has been made.

Every time that you use this agreement to purchase goods or services from the retailer your monthly repayments will change.

3.
If you do not make the repayments that are due under the credit agreement then your credit rating may be adversely affected and could make obtaining credit more difficult in the future. You may have to pay default interest and charges so that the amount you owe will increase (full details of these are shown on the pre- contract credit information and the credit agreement). It may also result in you having to repay the loan in full early and legal action being taken to recover that debt. This may lead to the outstanding debt being secured against your home.

This credit will allow you to spread the cost of your purchases and any further purchases that you may make under this credit agreement except for any purchases made as a Pay in One purchase. Pay in

One purchases will be paid in full with the next applicable payment due under your credit agreement. We will pay the credit directly to the retailer and the credit is only to be used for the financing of the purchases agreed with us.

You have 14 days to withdraw from this credit agreement. This right to withdraw right starts from the day after you sign the credit agreement.

This can be done by contacting us using the contact details contained in the pre-contract credit information.

This right of withdrawal only applies to the credit agreement and not to the purchase of the goods or services from the retailer.

Each time you make a purchase we will agree with you the term over which credit used for the purchase is to be repaid and calculate the interest that would be payable on that transaction on the assumption that you keep to the terms of the agreement and do not

The total amount of credit.

This means the amount of credit to be provided under the proposed credit agreement or the credit limit.

How and when

provided.

Repayments.

The duration of the credit agreement.

Your repayments

will pay off what you owe in the following order.

Running account credit agreement.

When you enter into this agreement

we will tell you what your credit limit is.

This will be based on our assessment of your financial circumstances. We may change your credit limit from time to time depending on our assessment of your account and financial circumstances and you can tell us if you do not want us to ever increase your credit limit.

The minimum amount of credit is £1.99.

We may refuse to allow you to obtain further credit if the balance available to you at the time you wish to obtain the further credit is less than this amount.

We will pay the credit directly to the credit intermediary each time you use this agreement to pay for any goods and/or services that you purchase from the credit intermediary.

Each time you make a purchase we will agree with you the term over which credit used for the purchase is to be repaid and calculate the interest that would be payable on that transaction on the assumption that you keep to the terms of the agreement and do not make any over-payments so that the credit used for the purchase will be repaid at the end of the agreed term. We will add the interest payable to the amount of credit provided for that transaction and divide that total amount into an equal number of monthly repayments spread throughout the term of the agreed repayment period. The agreement has no fixed duration and will continue until it is ended by you or us. Unless we agree otherwise at the time, any repayment that you make, which is less than the sum that is due, will be applied in the following order:

- any arrears, including any default sums with sums being applied to higher level interest bearing transactions (which are, at the time, making interest payments) before lower;

interest on interest bearing transactions;

repayment of capital on interest bearing transactions;

repayment of capital on interest free transactions.

Any payment which you make which is more than the total monthly repayment than required for all outstanding transactions will, unless you specifically instruct us otherwise, be applied to the transaction which has the highest interest rate. Where you have outstanding transactions with the same interest rate, we will apply the payment to the oldest transaction first.

The total amount you will have to pay. This means the amount you have borrowed plus interest and other costs.

Costs of the credit

The rates of interest which

apply to the credit

agreement.

14.9% per annum:

No interest will be payable on interest free transactions.

We may vary the interest rate at our discretion but will only vary it for purchases

entered into after the change to the interest rate has been brought into effect. We will tell you if we vary it and we will give you reasonable prior notice before it is increased.
